HANDS OFF THE COUNTRY'S FINANCES

The Cincinnati Enquirer says editorially:
So long as the politicians, bent on gaining the flesh pots of patronage, abuse and deery each other, the non-participating public will find no objection to the performance. But there will be protest, earnest, forceful and loud, to dragging the business affairs of the country through this inky pool of personal politics for the salient reason that the confidence of the community may become shaken in what may be called foundation principles.

The time has come to call a halt upon the assaults on the Federal Reserve Bank system, as found in the very recent charge of a political committee on platform which seeks to blame for inflation upon that institution. It is very well known that the financial forces, whose headquarters is in New York, have no love for the system and would either cripple it or have it led a captive into their control. There is warrant for the assumption that the partisans, in their greedy grabbing for power, are ready to lend themselves to this desperate scheme.

Every business man, manufacturer, banker and merchant knows that if it had not been for the Federal Reserve Bank this country would have been laid prostrate by panic, incomparable with any of the past, when the tocsin sounded for the European war. In the same way everybody, without regard to occupation, is aware that but for the bank, the financing of the war could not have been carried on so smoothly and without violent disturbance to trade and commerce.

Its operations are in the hands of practical bankers and business men, chosen by groups of financiers and commercial leaders by ballot and without regard to partisan affiliation. They have shown a praiseworthy pride in so directing affairs as to be of assistance to the country as a whole and for the benefit of every man, woman and child dwelling in it. To assail the system is to attack the integrity of these directors who serve without pay and solely as patriots imbued with a desire to do society a service.

Instead of being chargeable with rising prices the system is really responsible for preventing them from going higher and is the practical agency that will bring about the reduction in an orderly and frictionless way, being mindful of the serious effects of a sudden drop in values. It is a bold and impudent falsehood to lay this accusation at the Federal bank's door.

There are thousands of banks, state and private, that handle billions of dollars annually, and just as culpable under this blanket allegation, which are not members of the system, but in fact are its rivals.
Most reprehensible of all is the innuendo that the fall in the prices of Liberty bonds is due to this agency and that there was a deliberate deception of those who invested in them. Malignancy could not go much farther than this evil thing which is full mate to physical murder. It is a thought to the leaders of the L. W. W. or the Bolsheviks, and it will excite their admiration for the precise and potential effect it will have in undermining confidence in government.
As a convincing example of the length to which ignorant lust of political power will carry the patronage hunters, this incident is striking in its power.

Pure-bred Pigs For Sale

We have a few more PURE-BRED PIGS to dispose of at $16 each. The same kind would cost nearly twice that to get them shipped in here from elsewhere. We are surprised that this rare opportunity is not appreciated by our farmers. These hogs produce twice as much meat in the same time as scrubs.
We have heard that a knocker is saying this pig club was just a money-making scheme of this bank. This statement not only is unkind but unfair. Extremely selfish persons never can believe that anybody ever does anything for the good of others without getting paid for it. We get no profit out of this pig deal. We advanced the money to buy them and will retain only the principal and the regular 6 per cent interest if the pigs bring more than that. Any profit will go to take care of the demands of other agricultural matters.
Better ask for one of these fine pigs AT ONCE. We are forced to close-out the club plan because it has grown so large that the County Agent can not look after them.
